

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A projection device with wireless devices is provided. The projection device with wireless devices includes a video camera for providing a camera signal a wireless transmitter electrically connected to the video camera for receiving the camera signal and transmitting the camera signal by means of a wireless transmission technology; a wireless receiver for receiving the camera signal and transforming the camera signal into a projection signal; and a projector electrically connected to the receiver for receiving the projection signal and projecting an image in response to the projection signal.